AN extraordinary attraction is billed for the Hippodrome the first three days of the week. March's company have been presenting some of the biggest successes of musical comedy in short form, but today, they produce one of the Raymond Hitchcock hits, "The Red Widow," playing it in full as it ran in New York. The past two weeks have convinced most everyone who has attended any of the Hippodrome performances that the company of which Ruth Wheeler and Lew Welsh are the stars, is capable of putting this on in a way that will mark it as one of the really big things of the year for the Hipp. In addition, little Baby June, the youngest vaudeville star on the stage, will appear at each performance, with new songs and dances. "Buster Brown" and the presence of the little folks which filled the house Saturday prevailed on Baby June to do a specialty at the matinee, and without even a rehearsal with Mr. Gracey who had never played for the little star before, she went through her numbers in a flawless manner that indicates that she is a "chip off the old block," all right, and completely took the house. In the evening the March players had the pleasure of performing before two packed houses, an unusual thing even for Saturday night. It was the biggest Saturday in the history of the Hippodrome. The length of the "The Red Widow" bill played complete as the company will produce it the first three days of the week, make it impossible to give two shows in the evening, and there will be only two shows a day, matinee usual time, evening performance at 8:00 o'clock.

Notable Film at Nelson. Nelson's Fox subject, "The Tattlers," today is a notable one from a dramatic standpoint, one of the best of recent features judged from the standpoint of sheer acting ability. The performers, who include Madeline Travers, Jack Rollens and Ben Deely in the leading roles, have been given a full measure of "something to do," and they do it with remarkable skill. The production stands out in marked contrast with many features of late that expect a particular star to carry a slight story to success on the strength of his or her personality.

"The Tattlers" is strong in story interest and almost flawless in the matter of direction. It deals convincingly with a situation that in itself reflects a hard and almost sordid phase of real life, but it is real, and a strong presentation such as this carries a valuable message to the world. Many a woman has found herself in the same compromising position as that of Mrs. Rutherford and some have not come through it so successfully.

Madeline Travers portrays a genuine woman, of the trustful, unsuspecting sort, and Ben Deely pictures the conscienceless villain in compelling fashion. Jack Rollens presents the juvenile role in an intelligent, forceful manner.

The production as a whole is powerful and expertly made.

Paramount-Artcraft at Dixie.

Lucy Cotton and Wyndham Standing are the featured players in "The Miracle of Love," a Paramount-Artcraft picture taken from Cosmo Hamilton's story of English high society and at the Dixie tomorrow. The heroine is a Duchess, and the hero becomes a Duke after the death of his elder brother. There is another Duke in the story, a most despicable person, whose low tastes and evil life bring about the tragic situation which drives his wife into another man's arms. The Duchess remains true to her marriage vows, but is made to suffer in every way possible when the husband discovers her affection for Clive Herbert. It is not a pleasant story, but is strongly dramatic, and the winning fight the lovers make to keep their love unstained more than offsets the baser passions exhibited by the Duke. Some spectators will find the scenes where the nobleman is twice stricken with paralysis too realistic, but will be forced to admit that Ivo Watson gives a remarkably skillful performance of the character.

Lucy Cotton plays the Duchess of Harwich. She is a beautiful woman, tall and graceful, and looks the titled lady to the life. Most of her scenes call for repressed emotion or passive obedience. Miss Cotton is successful in indicating both. Wyndham Standing is capably cast as Clive Herbert. English by birth and a well schooled actor, his impersonation is thoroughly convincing. LOCAL SOCIAL EVENTS

Club To Open.

The Fairmont Country Club will formally open its season this afternoon and tonight when festivities of a varied nature will be indulged in by club members. The golf links will be the rendezvous of golf enthusiasts and they will find the course in prime condition, it having been carefully gone over during the past few weeks. Mr. Sullivan who had charge of the golf course last year will again be in charge and will give lessons as usual at one dollar per lesson. Club cleaning and storage prices will be two dollars per month. A telephone has been installed in the golf shop office. Work has been started on rebuilding the tennis courts and they will be completed as soon as material can be assembled.

A golf tournament will be a feature of the afternoon's festivities and tonight a dinner will be served to be followed by a dance. Miss Blanche Colburn is in charge of the house and dining room service and persons desiring the use of the club and diners or supper served should communicate with her.

It is planned to hold a weekly club dance during the season without additional charge to members. E. F. Hortley is in charge of the club this year and an unusually interesting and profitable season is promised. Chairmen for committee have been named as follows: Golf committee, Glenn F. Barnes House committee, Mrs. W. H. Conaway, membership committee, W. N. Engle Tennis committee A. J. Colburn.

Returned Home.

Mrs. Ernest Bell and little daughter, Miss Betty Lee, have returned from Washington, D. C., where they had spent several weeks as the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Conaway.

To Entertain for Guests.

Honoring their guests the Misses Mary Williams, of Brauburg, S. C.; Robbie Bobo, of Clarksburg, Miss.; Helen Aaron, of Altoona, Pa.; and Julietta Mottmayer, of Albany, Ga. The Misses Mona and Nina Simon will entertain with a dance tomorrow evening at the Fairmont. Other out of town guests who will share in the honors of the evening will be the Misses Louise Rogers and Margaret Cox, of Morgantown, who will arrive here tomorrow to be guests of the Misses Simon. The Misses Simon and their guests returned yesterday from Morgantown where they had attended the Senior-Sophomore dance on Friday night and the Cadet hop on Saturday night. Shinn's orchestra will furnish the music for the dance.

Saunders and Edwin Earle are prominent members of the excellent cast. The production is admirable throughout.

Drama and Serial. "The Beloved Cheater" is the title of the Princess feature which will be seen for two days beginning today. Lew Cody is starred in the production. An episode of the serial "Elmo, the Fearless," will follow the feature.

CLOSE UPS.

Priscilla Dean's next Universal picture has been chosen. It is called "The Cat That Walked Alone," and is an original screen story in a prologue and four parts by John Colton.

It is the story of the daughter of an English Earl, whose spirit is fiery and indomitable, and whose escapades are the talk of British society. Tod Browning will direct it.

Final scenes for "Marooned Hearts," a Selznick special production, with Zena Keefe and Conway Tearle playing the leading roles, have been filmed in the Bahamas. Nell Craig, former Essanay star, marks her return to the screen in "The Desperate Hero," after an absence of two years.

POP.

This is not an advertisement for a new novel. It is an important medical announcement appearing on a full page in this paper. Look for it now.

Bridge Tea.

Mrs. Charles Windsor and Mrs. Oka Veach Swisher were hostesses Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George F. Swisher, on Wheeling street at a bridge tea of charming appointments. Several tables were occupied at bridge and at 4 o'clock tea was served. A color scheme of red, white and blue featured the decorations and a French basket filled with red and white carnations and tied with blue tulle centered the tea table. Out of town guests present were Mrs. H. M. Argobast and Mrs. Carroll Price, of Morgantown.

Tickets Selling Fast.

Tickets for the Old Folks concert to be given at the opera house on Thursday evening as a benefit for the charity fund of Cook hospital are going fast and there promises to be a large attendance. A program of an interesting nature on which old time favorite singers will appear will be rendered. A doctors' chorus led by W. P. Barrington will be a feature of the evening as will also be a song by several modern grandmothers of the city. Nurses from Cook hospital will usher.

To Hold Outing.

Camp Minnehaha on the Valley river will be the rendezvous of the Glenn F. Barnes class of the Fairmont High school tomorrow when the members of the class and several chaperones will tie themselves to the popular resort and spend several hours in swimming and other sports. A picnic supper served beneath the trees will be a feature of the day's outing.

Mothers' Club to Meet.

The Mothers' club will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Crowl, 907 Short avenue. The meeting will be held at 2:30 o'clock and the topic for discussion will be "Obedience in the Home." Miss Norma Hecker will play a piano solo and a vocal duet will be rendered by the Misses Mabel and Ethel Toothman.

Par Mar Club to Dance.

The Mason-Dixon Seven, one of the popular musical aggregations of this community will furnish the music for a dance which the Par Mar club will give on Monday evening, June 7, at the Masonic Temple. Invitations have been sent out and these must be presented at the door. The dance will be an informal program dance and a large turnout is expected owing to the fact that the Mason Dixon quartet are leaving soon for a tour of the East and will no play for some time in this city. Dancing will begin at nine o'clock and continue until one o'clock. The committee in charge is composed of Bob Furman, Ernest Robison, Clarka Reese, Arthur Michle and Jennings Martin.

At Buckeye Lake.

A Refrigerator Met a Talking Machine

"My, my!" said the refrigerator, "how you have grown! I remember you when you were knee high to a grasshopper."

The Talking Machine continued on its way and the Refrigerator, looking back, began to think:

Here is the Talking Machine—an upstart, you might say, yet it sits in the parlor of almost every home and simply makes music to entertain.

"I'm a good deal older and more necessary. Yet people will readily pay a hundred dollars or more for a talking machine and think any old refrigerator is good enough. I'm the most important piece of furniture in the house because I protect the family Health and Wealth."

Are you overlooking the necessity of a good refrigerator in your Home?

Hartley Refrigerators are Good and the Price Small—$19.75 to $58.50.
